

LTS Pricing Calculator

What we built — an overview for the team

This is the tool customers use to see what LTS would cost them, without waiting on a quote. They pick the platform, add Time Sheet if they need it, put in their trainee or staff numbers, and the price updates right there on screen.

What went into it

- Built the calculator from scratch, with LTS's own branding and colours
- Added Time Sheet as a second product, priced separately from the platform
- Added a section showing what the same admin costs someone today doing it by hand, so the savings are obvious rather than just a claim
- Went through your feedback a few rounds and made the changes each time you sent something through
- Converted the whole thing so the dev team can drop it straight into the real LTS website — that was the last big piece

How it works, day to day

It all runs in the customer's browser. There's nothing separate to log into or manage. A customer builds their estimate, watches the price update as they go, and can export it to Excel when they're done. All the prices and product details live in one place behind the scenes, so changing a rate later is a quick edit, not a rebuild.

It's ready to hand to the developers now.
